Overview

Local businesses add vitality to and are the lifeblood of the community, increasing character, prosperity, and well-being. They keep jobs, wages, and dollars in the local economy and encourage entrepreneurship and sustainability while allowing for product diversity and competition. Having a high concentration of small, local businesses within the downtown area also sustains and strengthens the downtown commercial environment through increased walkability and promotion of existing building reuse and good infill design. Therefore, Jacksonville community partners are committed to promoting and assisting the development and growth of local business through a variety of activities and incentives aimed at attracting a wider audience to all the community has to offer.

The Jacksonville Enterprise Zone Development Corporation (JEZDC) is a community development corporation subsidiary of Jacksonville Main Street, a locally funded non-profit 501(c)3 organization dedicated to the preservation-based revitalization of downtown Jacksonville. Together, these organizations share the mission to enhance the perception, quality of life and long-term economic health of the entire Jacksonville Community through a coordinated and sustained effort to revitalize the city's downtown district.

The Jacksonville Main Street District encompasses much of the City of Jacksonville's original enterprise zone. To be eligible for incentives provided by Jacksonville Main Street and its subsidiary Jacksonville Enterprise Zone Development Corporation, all business property must be within the 44-square block district, delineated by Beecher, Clay, Church, and Lafayette/Washington Streets.
